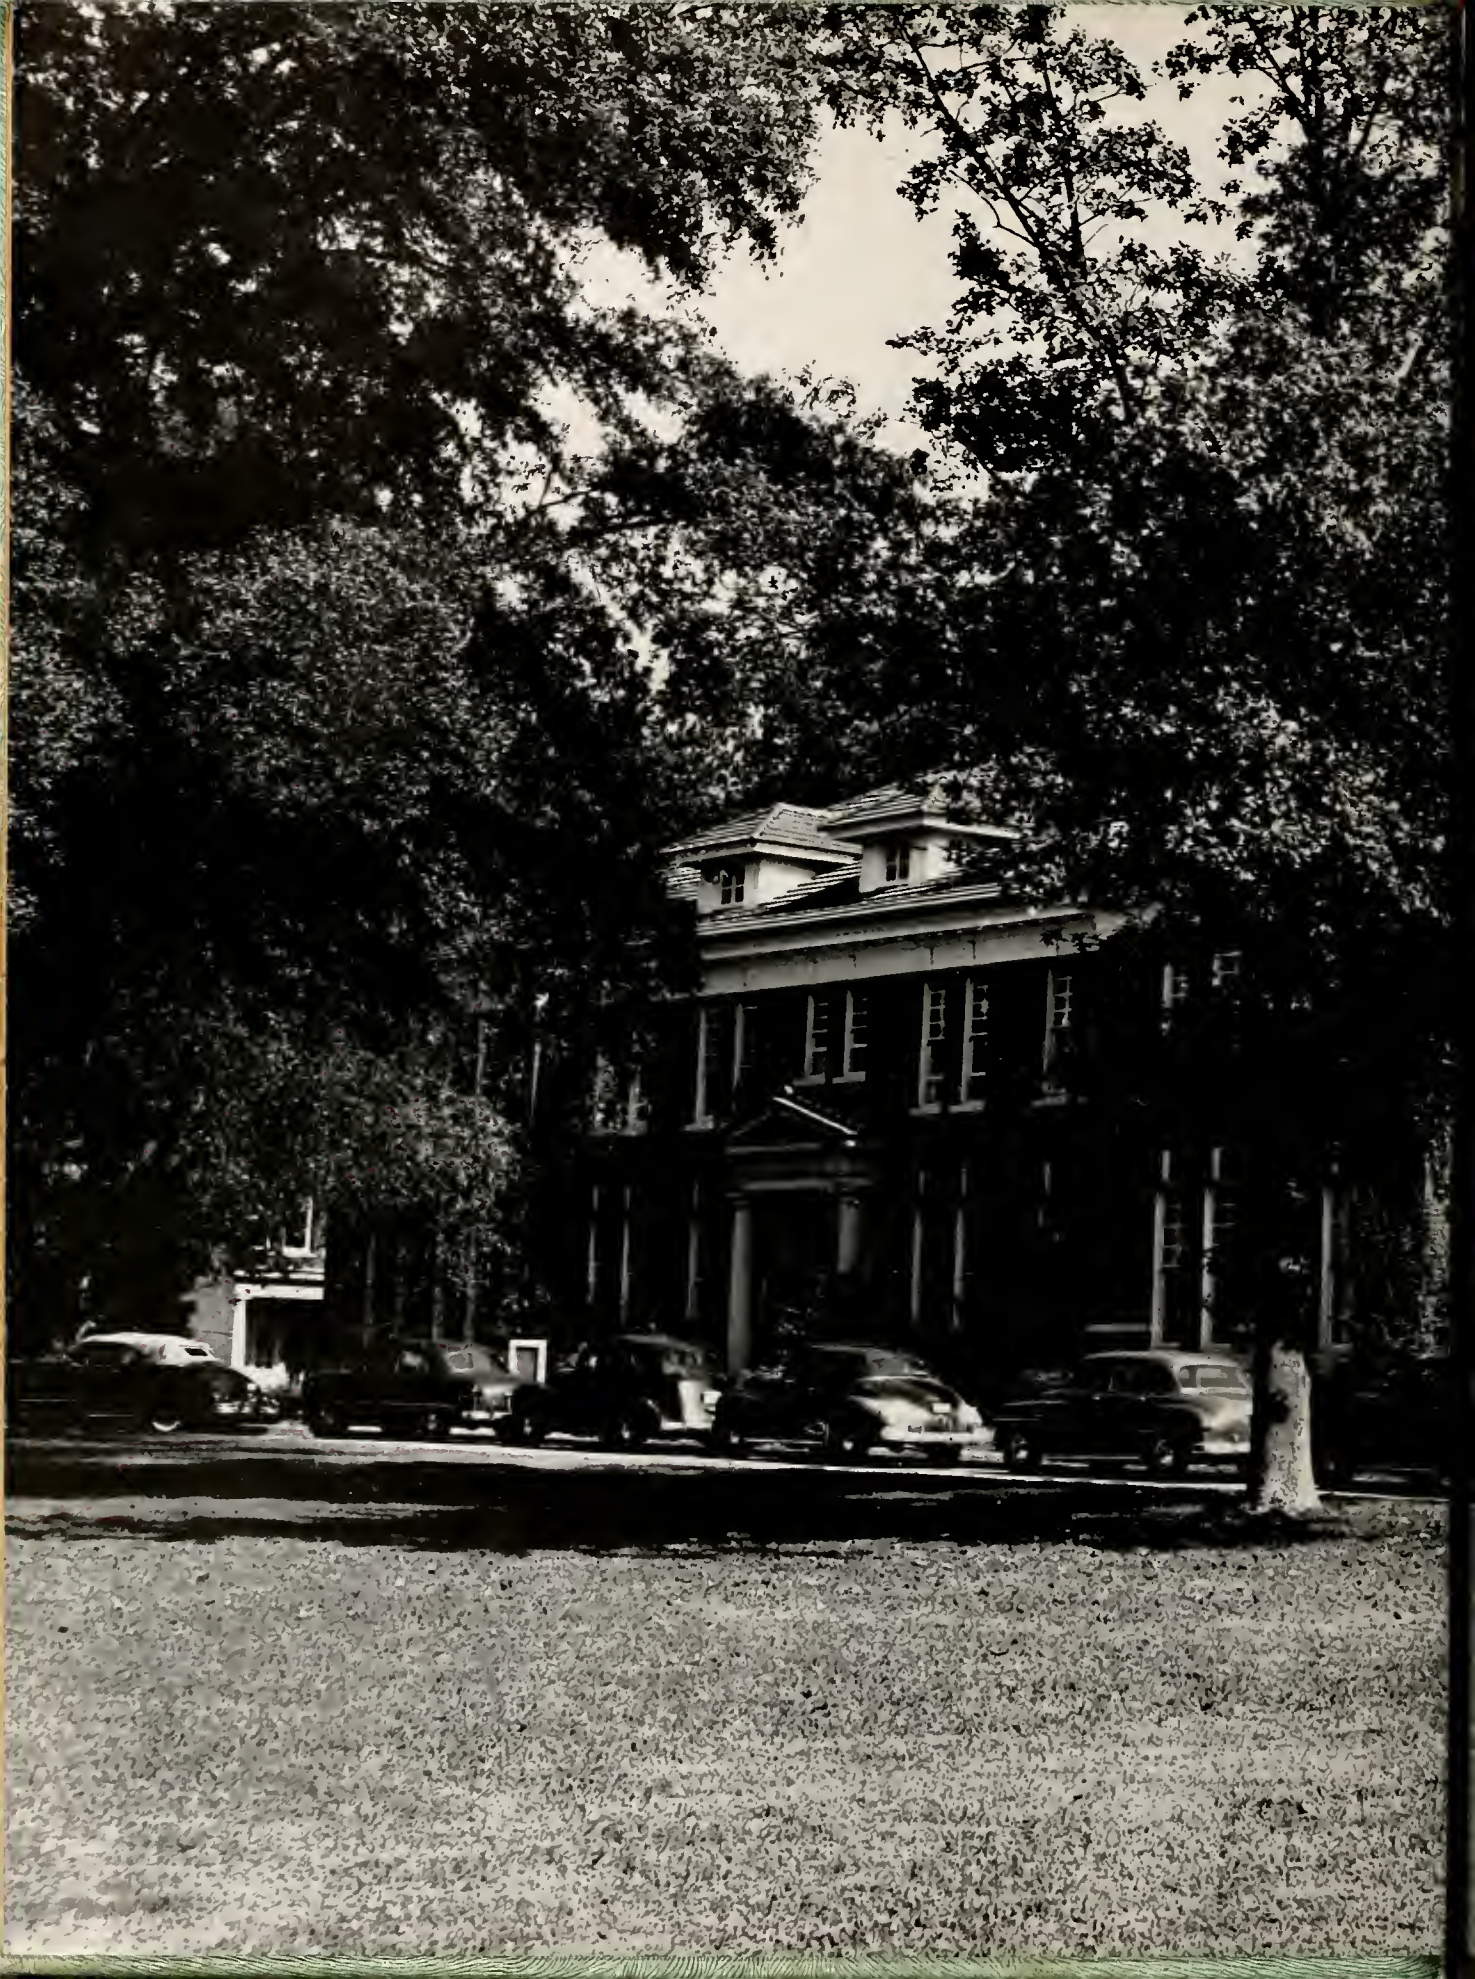
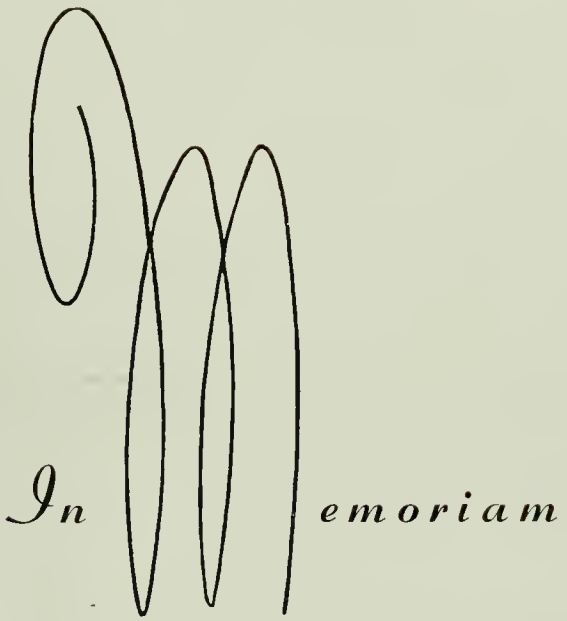
As Queens greets the centennial class, the time comes to look back to the achievements of the past and to look forward to the hopes of the future. In the last one hundred years Queens has grown from a small, sheltered institution into a vibrant, promising college. Queens has made outstanding progress, but progress is meaningless without a strong foundation upon which to build. The campus provides many evidences of physical growth . . . the new dormitory, the physical education building, the remodeled dormitories, the redecorated dining hall, Burwell, and the Stultz Building. But there are other evidences of growth at Queens. A far superior kind of growth is found in the hearts and minds of students and faculty. Every member of Queens has experienced an enthusiasm and is awake to the progress of the college. As we stand upon traditions of the past and look with hope and optimism to the future, we catch the real spirit of Queens College.





DR. CHARLTON C. JERNIGAN

1904 — 1953

We loved him—the tall, romantic figure walking with such a zest for life across our own Queens campus. He was an ideal . . . a young college girl's dream of the understanding, farseeing figure. He was genuine . . . unassuming, with a flair for humor. He stimulated intellectual curiosity and became a living reality. He was such a warm, close friend—our Dr. Jernigan. As long as Queens students live, he will live. And in our mind's eye, he still walks, head high, gently smiling, through all our memories of Queens.

"Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven."—Matthew 5:6.

GORDON W. SWEET
B.S., B.Mus., M.Mus.
Dean of the College

H. H. EVERETT

Mr. Everett, his good-natured participation in our activities, his friendly understanding, his sincere interest in us, but most of all — he has served us so faithfully as Acting President of our college.

nistration

The administrative officers are always ready to help with our academic, spiritual, or physical growth. There will be many times when we will need help and advice; that is why we Queens girls rely on their tactful and patient guidance and their sincere interest in the growth of Queens.

Seniors

The last time for many things -- the door closing on our days at Queens but not on our memories — the strangeness of caps and gowns on Senior Recognition Day, the thrill of winning a cup on Stunt Night, our last Queens Christmas, the Boar's Head, banquets, picnics, parties, our last exams ... the whirl all our own called Senior Week ... the solemnity and excitement of graduation. We leave part of ourselves to Queens and yet take much more of her with us — grateful for the privilege of being "Queens girls" ... and hoping that we have contributed in some way toward a "Greater Queens."

Sophomores

Mighty sophomores, — yet kind and just, as signified by the New Rat Week. No balls and chains for the freshmen but a happy community attitude from them combined, of course, with their courtesy and respect for us — the learned and noble sophomores. Wait until you're sophomores, freshmen — then you'll know the thrill of winning your volleyball games, of dating every night alone, of leaving behind closed study, chaperones, and freshmen rules. We've worked and played, studied, and laughed; and now at last we've taken our place as sophomores, soon to become juniors, with the hope that all of our work and play has not been just for ourselves but that we have contributed our time and energy towards a "Greater Queens."

Recipe for a Sophomore Class

Ingredients

150 unsuspecting freshmen
150 Rat Caps
216 hours of closed study
several tons of rose-colored glasses for those blind dates
1 "Frantic Coronation"
150 dates for the Christmas Dance
1 Boar's Head Dinner
2 weeks of concentrated exams
1 May Day
2,565,493 bridge games
several hundred ounces of imagination, ambition, and hard work
a dash of faculty and Tall Authority

Place all the ingredients in a Queens Campus. During Orientation Week, stir with an F.A.C., and continue to mix thoroughly from September to June. If desired, add dates from the Davidson oasis. The result is a Centennial Class which will serve everyone.

Student Government

CO-ORDINATING COUNCIL: Co-ordinating Council is composed of the three student government officers, the heads of the major student organizations and publications, and the class presidents. Standing committee chairmen attend at least one of the two meetings each month. The purpose of the Council is to evaluate and co-ordinate the activities of the organizations and to form a link between the faculty, administration, and students. Seeking to improve student self-government, the group chose "Integrated Interests" as the theme to guide its work this year.

BARBARA EDWARDS
President

HONOR COUNCIL: The Honor Council endeavors to uphold and clarify the Honor System and to make it a positive force in student living. The Honor System is basic in building Christian character and is one of the cherished possessions of the College. Regulations in all phases of college life are based on the three fundamentals which constitute the system, and any infraction of these fundamentals is dealt with by the Council. Upon entrance to the college every student pledges his support to the Honor Council.

To regulate day student life on the Queens College campus is the primary purpose of Day Student Council. Through representation, the Council strives to foster student self-government and feelings of individual and group responsibility.

During the year Day Student Council sponsors projects and activities that contribute to the academic, spiritual, and social life of the college. It co-ordinates the relations and activities of the day students with those of the administration, the faculty, and the boarding students. It seeks to promote day student interest and participation in college and community affairs.

THE CORONET 1954

We take great pleasure in presenting to you the 1954 CORONET.

Aside from the opportunities for political and religious leadersip offered on our campus, there is a creative urge which is given vent in the work done by one of the campus publications.

The CORONET gives the student the chance to perpetuate herself and her friends in a well bound snapshot album that will give a future generation leeway to make fun of their elders.

The CORONET staff has dreamed of that grand moment and those sighs of relief when that finished product will be given out in the spring.

The staff of the 1954 CORONET would like to thank all persons who have worked so tirelessly with us on this year's book. Especially we would like to express our appreciation to: Mr. Price Coursey of the Charlotte Engraving Company, who has spent many long hours in bringing the pictorial matter to completion. Mr. Harrie Keck of the Observer Printing House, who has been very patient and efficient in getting the printed matter to press.

Mr. Edison Stewart and Mr. A. Haynes Dunlap of Ivey's Studio, who have spent much time and energy in trying to add perfection to the individual portraits.

To these and many others we express our gratitude, realizing that the completion of this book is due in great part to their efforts.

Social Committee

The Social Committee, headed by Louise Harvin, strives to promote the best standards for daily living. It is the duty of the Social Committee to promote an integrated campus social program which offers to all students opportunities for social activity. This group sponsors week-end entertainment throughout the year, and acts as host to visitors on the campus. The committee sponsors a dance every year during the winter. The committee this year has endeavored to present a well-rounded and diversified social life, which it hopes has reached every student in some phase.

"who's who at queens"

Among Students in American Universities and Colleges

Members of Who's Who are selected at the beginning of their senior year on the basis of scholarship, cooperation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities, citizenship and service to the school, and promise of future usefulness. Their names appear in the 1953-54 edition of the publication Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Each member receives a certificate of recognition at the annual Awards Day of the college. These members are: Barbara Edwards, Betty Lipe, Jackie Johnson, Carol Stockner, Leeds Cushman, Patsy Harmon, Dorothy Hinson.

Alpha Delta Pi

Back again to another wonderful year of fun and friendship in Alpha Delta Pi unloading of suitcases and greeting old familiar faces plans for "Rush Week" "Big Day" and the fifteen greatest "little sisters" ever! Most "drastic" changes made: replastering of the living room ceiling and new kitchen equipment, at long last! Things we won't forget: Working with the children at Mercy Hospital, a most rewarding experience to every A D Pi sister; Serving "breakfast-in-bed" in the various dorms to aid our project for the Crippled Children; Sunday Night Feeds and everyone harmonizing on "Side by Side"; The much anticipated Christmas feed prepared by the pledges, and CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS! "The" perfect weekend including initiation, banquet, and dance; new bonds of sisterhood for all; Approaching graduation and caps and gowns for eight happy but reminiscent seniors; Commencement and on to "Tally-Ho" – So ends another unforgettable year "Alpha Delt we pledge ourselves to you till we meet again."

Phi Mu

A new year begins with Rush Week: the Phi Mu Showboat with real Southern Belles and cotton bales; the Phi Mu Ranch Party complete with cowboys and "Angels on Horseback" ... Our annual Pledge Banquet at the El Morocco with twenty new pledges ... Working and playing together in the Spirit of Phi Mu: painting the House, sanding the floors, planting grass, and painting the kitchen ... We won't forget our pledge picnic at Freedom Park where everyone joined in the fun and frolic ... The activities on the long winter evenings at the little House in the center of Sorority Row: our happy songfest, the little get-togethers, Saturday date sessions, the hour spent there in study, all drawing each active and pledge closer in Our Bond ... How about the Fall function at the House, beautifully decorated for Christmas: dancing, singing, the Sisters proving themselves good cooks and hostesses to their dates ... And then the Christmas Dance with our entertainment and good things to eat at Intermission ... The Christmas party which our pledges slaved over: the "Oh's" and "Ah's" over lovely Christmas presents and the love that was wrapped up in them: the very special gifts under the brightly lighted tree for the girls at the Florence Crittenton Home ... The Alum Party ... And finally Initiation Banquet with all the trimmings, followed by the wonderful Spring Dance ... Fraternity pins and diamond rings ... The year ending with tearful goodbyes to the seniors and great anticipation for our houseparty at Myrtle Beach ... So ends another happy year at the little Phi Mu House!
